

Ungulates and Palm Oil

What is palm oil?

Palm oil is a vegetable oil produced from the African oil palm tree and is found in many foods, cosmetics and bath products.

What's the problem with palm oil?

Rainforests are destroyed to make room for unsustainable palm oil plantations, which negatively affect animals, like okapi.

How you can help

Purchase products that contain sustainable palm oil, which has a minimal impact on wildlife. Find products that contain sustainable palm oil by downloading the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo shopping app. Many food items are also marked as “Rainforest Alliance Certified.”

Resources

stlzoo.org/palmoil

Look for these logos

Download the app at stlzoo.org

